

POPE PIUS THE NINTH.

The death of Pope Pius the IX., occurred at Rome yesterday afternoon at three o'clock. Giovanni Maria Mastai Ferretti, for that is his name, was the 257th Roman Pontiff, the 256th successor of St. Peter, and was born in Italy in May 18th, 1792, being nearly 86 years old. He has had in many respects a remarkable career. He had seen the ups and downs of life, but Fortune guided him in the way, and from one ecclesiastical position to another, he reached the highest known to the Catholic Church. It seems he was intended for the army, but in early life determined to enter an ecclesiastical seminary. He was a close student and a devout man, and gained the confidence of the Head of the Church. After his ordination he was sent by Pius VII. on a mission to the government of Chili, in South America. The delicate duties of the mission were performed with so much wisdom and discretion, that on his return to Rome, he made successive advancements, until finally in 1840 he was created Cardinal Archbishop of Imola, a Romagna. The death of Pope Gregory XVI. occurred on the first of June, 1846, and on the 16th of the same month, Cardinal Ferretti was elected to the Papacy. He immediately began the inauguration of reforms in the Papal Government, and for this won the esteem and confidence of the people. The Revolution of 1848 which swept over France like a whirlwind, "gave a much more powerful impulse to the enthusiasm, not only of the Italian patriots, but of the friends of the liberal institutions all over Europe, awakened a demand, not for mere administrative reforms, but for popular systems of representative government. These sweeping changes the Pope was not prepared to support, and from that moment his popularity began to decline."

The breach between the Papal government and the people became wider and wider; dissatisfaction ruled the people; their indignation was alarmingly increased when the Pope appointed Count Rossi his Minister, who was a proud, bold, aristocratic, and an unpopular man. The fury of the people became so uncontrollable that Rossi was assassinated shortly after his appointment. Discontent reigned on all hands, and the Pope himself was compelled to flee from Rome in disguise. He went to Gaeta, whither he was followed by the Papal Court. In November of 1848, while an exile, he issued an order declaring void all the acts of the Italian Government, but the document was treated with contempt. In 1849, in response to the appeal of the Pope, a French expedition marched upon Rome, captured the city, and re-established the Papal government. His spiritual authority had been maintained from that day to his death, but he was completely robbed of his temporal power, which left Pius IX. the "command of only the Vatican buildings and indignity against which he always chafed." Among his more important spiritual measures which have created considerable discussion, are the Immaculate Conception of the Blessed Virgin, the Infallibility of the Pope, and the re-establishment of the English, the Irish and the Scottish hierarchies.

THE WASHBURN MATTER.

We publish to-day the full report of the Committee which have had charge of the consideration of the acceptance by the State of the Washburn residence for a school for girls. The Committee took time to thoroughly consider the subject before presenting their report to the Legislature. They did one thing in connection with the matter for which they are entitled to much credit. Before deciding what course to take, the Committee sought to ascertain whether or not there was a need for an Industrial School for Girls, aside from the one in the city of Milwaukee. To accomplish this, the chairman wrote to the several police magistrates and police justices for information regarding the number of girls under fifteen years who had been brought before them during the past year charged with offenses, and fifteen responded, and from their report it appears that only fourteen girls have been brought before such courts. Reasoning from these facts, the Committee very wisely, we think, decided that there does not exist a necessity for such an institution in this State, and therefore could do no more than recommend that the proposition of ex-Governor Washburn be declined. We invite attention to the full report.

The Democrats in the House of Representatives have decided to unseat Pacheco, of California. The reason, and the only reason, is that he is a Republican. He received 19,104 votes against 19,103 votes for Wigginton, Democrat. There is no fraud or any substantial irregularity charged in conducting the election, but the Democrats have made careful calculation, and they find that it takes five Democrats and a fraction over, to equal four Republicans in the House, and they must make arrangements to admit all the Democratic contestants no matter whether their claims are just or not. There seems to be no bound to the depth of political villainy to which the Democrats in the present House can descend.

Blaine had a great ovation in the Senate yesterday. He got possession of the floor in the afternoon, to speak on the currency question, and the interest to hear him became intense and wide-spread. The galleries of the Chamber were crowded to the utmost, and hundreds could not enter to hear Bob Ingersoll's "Knight-errant of political chivalry."

Mr. Stark's bill providing for the em-pounding of cattle in cities, has been indefinitely postponed. The bill should have become a law.

WASHBURN'S GIFT.

The Full Report of the Joint Committee-Substantial Reasons Why the Residence Should Not Be Accepted-Some Interesting Facts.

The following is the full report of the Committee to whom the question of the acceptance by the State of the Washburn residence for an Industrial School for Girls, was referred:

The Joint Committee on Charitable and Penal Institutions to whom was referred the executive message and accompanying proposition of Governor Washburn to donate to the State his residence for the purpose of an Industrial School for Girls, similar to that at Waukesha for Boys, beg leave to REPORT.

That in accordance with your instructions they have visited the property known as "Edgewood," and under the guidance of its owner, Governor Washburn, carefully examined it. The property is situated about one mile west of the University and extends from the main road to the fifth lake. It contains something over fifty acres of undulating land, about one-half of which is wooded and the remainder divided into meadow, lawn, orchard and garden. The garden slopes sharply to the lake, and is rich in grapes and small fruits. The buildings are of stone, and the house covered with mastic. They are substantially built and of fine architectural proportions. The main part of the house is three stories high, each story being divided into a hall and four large rooms. The kitchen, office and servants' rooms are in the rear and in keeping with the main building. The prospect commands the three lakes, a wide extent of wooded hills and cultivated fields, the University buildings and the Capital city in the distance and forms a beautiful picture. The whole constitutes a fitting residence for a gentleman of refined tastes and ample means. If the property was accepted by the State upon the terms of the proposed grant, it would probably furnish accommodations for forty pupils and their necessary teachers and attendants.

Your Committee were fully impressed with the beauty of the place, its fitness for the purpose for which it is offered to the State, and the liberality of the proposed gift, so highly honorable to donor. But in the consideration of the question your Committee have felt themselves compelled to regard the offer of Gov. Washburn as a business proposition which should be well considered; as its unconditional acceptance involves the whole question of the necessity for the establishment of another penal institution with its attendant burden of taxation, its location and the principles upon which it should be governed. With a view of obtaining as full information as possible in regard to the necessity for an institution of the kind proposed, letters were addressed to the Chief Magistrates and Police Justices of all the cities in the State, and from replies received from fifteen of them it appears that only fourteen girls under fifteen years of age have been brought before the courts charged with acts regarded as offenses by the laws regulating the State Industrial School for Boys; and the almost unanimous opinion expressed by the respondents, who from their official position as guardians of public morals and executors of the law, should best fit them to judge, is "that no present necessity exists for such an institution in this State."

It also appears from the report of the Milwaukee Industrial School, which by the laws of 1875 was virtually made a penal institution for girls, that only six girls under sixteen years of age have been committed to it during the past year, from all the courts of the State other than those of Milwaukee city.

These facts and the opinions above quoted of the police magistrates who have responded to the Committees' letters so fully coincide with the opinion of your Committee, that they beg leave to report back the message and accompanying letter of Gov. Washburn, with the recommendation that his excellency the Governor, be requested to notify Governor Washburn that his offer is respectfully declined, and that all further consideration of the subject is indefinitely postponed.

THE TELEPHONE.

Madison, Wis., Feb. 7.—General Superintendent Haskins delivered a lecture on the telephone in the Assembly chamber to-night to a packed audience, large numbers going away unable to gain admittance. Owing to defective wires from Chicago and the persistence of way-offices to hear the music, by cutting their instruments on the line, the music from Gray's musical telephone in Chicago was not as distinct as was anticipated, but enough reached to show to the audience the workings of the invention.

Relative to common schools in the State. Bills were passed relative to assessment of property for taxation.

Relative to highway taxes.

Relative to appointment of notaries public.

Concerning trial of offenses upon information.

Relating to exemption of property of mechanics and laborers.

To legalize proceedings of all Town Insurance Co.'s of the State.

Both houses adjourned until Monday night.

ROBBED.

Madison, Feb. 7.—An old man named James Tar, en route home in Racine, from Stevens Point, was knocked down and robbed of his watch and $200 at the Chuton street railway crossing, early this morning.

A NEW TUG.

Green Bay, Wis., Feb. 7.—A new tug is to be built at this port this winter, intended to be used in assisting vessels in distress and to supply wrecking outfit. Captain John Gregor arrived from Chicago to-day, to take charge of the building of the tug. He built the molds originally drawn for the tug Protection. The new tug will be 82 feet over all, 70 feet keel, 16 feet beam and 9 feet depth of hold. Captain Gregory also has the contract to build another tug of large dimensions. Work on the new steamer for the bay-shore trade, to take the place of the burned Northwest, is progressing. Ceiling and planking is now going forward.

A FIRE.

Green Bay, Wis., Feb. 7.—An incendiary fire, about 10 o'clock last night at Shocron, Wis., destroyed nearly two million feet of lumber, mostly pine, belonging to Willy, Green & Beretschky. Loss, about $20,000; insured for $16,000. The mill narrowly escaped destruction, and was saved by the strenuous exertions of the firemen.

LOUISIANA LAW.

Returning-Board Anderson Found Guilty as Charged Last Evening—A Recommendation to the Mercy of the Court by the Jury.

New Orleans, Feb. 7.—Judge Whitaker opened court this morning and took a recess to prepare his charge to the jury in the Anderson case.

At 9:30 p. m. Judge Whitaker finished the reading of his charge to the jury and they retired. The court room was cleared and even the attorneys for the defense had left, nobody expecting a verdict, almost everybody believing that the result would be a mistrial.

At 10:10 p. m. a loud knock came from the jury room which was promptly answered by a deputy sheriff, who went at once to the jury room and returning quickly to the judge who, with some gentlemen, was in his private office, with the news that the jury had agreed upon a verdict. The counsel were sent for.

Gen. Anderson was deadly pale, twisting nervously the head of his cane between his fingers. Then the verdict was read, as follows:

New Orleans, Feb. 7, 1878.—We find Thomas C. Anderson guilty, and recommend him to the mercy of the court.

W. P. CONVERSE, Foreman of Jury.

The defense asked for the polling of the jury. Each juror, after his name was called, was asked, is this your verdict, guilty, and recommended to the mercy of the court? They all answered in the affirmative.

A few of Anderson's friends at once surrounded him and saw him off to jail.

BLAINE'S SPEECH.

Washington, Feb. 7.—Mr. Blaine had a magnificent audience to-day for his speech on the silver question, which had been extensively advertised. An analysis of his views is scarcely necessary, as printed slips of the speech were mailed yesterday to the principal papers of the country. Blaine's position, in brief, is this: He is a double standard, the remonetization of silver with a dollar of 235 grains as an unlimited legal-tender. With such a dollar, all other questions, he thinks, will settle themselves. His position is substantially that assumed by Dr. Linderman. There were some points in the speech upon which Blaine cannot be expected to escape criticism. Blaine knows better than most American workmen will know that the trade-dollar of 420 grains is not paid out to workmen in China, who scarcely can earn a dollar in a week, and is used only for exchange between capitalists.

SUICIDE.

South Bend, Ind., Feb. 7.—Henry T. Porter, for the past five years foreman of the Studebaker Carriage Works, has been missing since Tuesday, and is believed to have committed suicide. The river is now being dragged for him. His watch, recently presented him by the Studebaker Company, and his money and effects are at his hotel, together with a $400 draft he had bought to send to his wife in Philadelphia.

IN FEARFUL PERIL.

Thrilling Railroad Experience—A brakeman who was Equal to an Emergency.

The following intensely interesting account of what came near being a terrible accident on the Dunkirk, Warren and Pittsburgh Railroad from the Jamestown (N. Y.) Democrat of Monday:

Every one in any way conversant with the construction of the Dunkirk, Warren and Pittsburgh Railroad knows how rapid is the descent from Leona into Fredonia. The fact that the greatest care has always been observed in running trains over this particular part of the road is well known to the engineers and brakemen, and they are very liable to be "on deck" and busy when they strike this dangerous locality. Last Saturday evening, about 11 o'clock, an accident happened at the place we have above described which came very near ending in death and destruction. The night was intensely cold, and when the regular freight train pulled out of Cassada, all the brakemen but one were in the caboose warming up, preparatory to standing guard over the long train of twenty-nine cars when the heavy grade was reached. Just after leaving the station the train broke in two, the last five cars being left behind, the balance with only one brakeman keeping on, unaware of the accident.

The top of the hill was reached, and the descent began. The engineer, finding himself impelled along at a terrible rate, reversed his engine, though he says he expected to see the cylinder heads blown out, his locomotive a wreck—and whistled for brakes. The cars were covered with ice and snow, and the solitary brakeman took his life in his hand when, in the darkness, and the rain falling along at rate of about a mile a minute, he saw a grade that increased the speed every second, he sprang from one car to another and set every brake on the whole twenty-three cars. The run from the top of the hill to Fredonia was made in an incredibly short space of time, and by the bravery of the brakeman, the quick discovery of the impending danger by the engineer, and the good work of the locomotive and every brake, the train was kept from a plunge into the Dunkirk depot and total annihilation. The distress and anxiety of the conductor and brakeman in the caboose as to the whereabouts of their charge and friends was very great, until a dispatch from Fredonia finally relieved all fears, and that which all-look had feared for a while ingeniously soon brought together again.

A Madison Hotel in '51.

Early Day Tales in the Milwaukee Sentinel.

The crack hotel in Madison was the United States Hotel, kept by A. A. Bird. Bells in the rooms by which you could summon a waiter were, of course, unknown, but advancing civilization demanded something of the kind, and so friend Bird conceived the ingenious idea of marking the number of the rooms (six in all) upon the window-sill, at the head of the stairs in the second story, and placing an old dinner bell along with a direction inscribed on the same window-sill, "Ring the Bell and then Place It Over Your Number."

Each of the three front rooms of this floor were occupied respectively by Gen. Wm. R. Smith then chief clerk of the Senate, Lieut. Gov. S. W. Beal occupying the middle room, while I had the one adjoining and further from the bell operation. One morning, while passing the short and narrow corridor from my room to the stairs, for an early breakfast, I heard the bell give one convulsive throb, and an old clothed only in a shirt which barely reached to the end of his spine, flew from the head of the stairs around the corner, into the corridor, and in its headlong course overtook me and both of us came to the floor. In my assailant I recognized the Governor, who had slipped out of his room to ring the bell for his accustomed gin cocktail, and was surprised by a couple of girls who had come up the stairs while he was turning his back to them to ring that bell! It may safely be supposed that he never ventured out afterwards in naturalibus, but as he could not very well get along without an eye-opener in the shape of a gin cocktail and if possible before dressing himself, he soon found a way to get it without danger. Whenever he heard me passing his door in the morning for breakfast, he would rap at his door, the head of the bed being near it, and bid me come in when the following performance and conversation were had between us: "Mr. Speaker, will you please ring that convulsed bell and then come back I want to tell you something."

EARTH TO EARTH.

Pope Pius, after an Eventful Life of Eighty-Five Years, Laid Down to Eternal Rest.

Rome, Feb. 7, 1878.—After a life of 85 years, and a pontificate of thirty-two years, and a self-imposed imprisonment of eight years, after a career of early triumphs and defeat, of joy and tribulation, of resignedly borne bodily sufferings, Pope Pius IX. died down to eternal rest to-day. Rome, with her tears for King Victor Emanuel scarcely dried, the garb of royal mourning just laid by, is called upon to weep afresh over the death of an aged priest and king, whose benign sway was acknowledged by high 200,000,000 souls over the wide world. There is deep excitement among the chattering people of the ancient City of the Seven Hills. The officials of Humbert I move solemnly about the city. There is an atmosphere of gloom about the Quirinal Palace, whence so often in the olden days the Pope now dead had blessed the Romans, and where now the princes of the House of Piedmont, have their abode. The churches are thronged by votaries, and tears are falling from many eyes, and prayers are rising from many lips. Along the corso and round the longers gather in knots and chat and asks details. In the neighbor of the Vatican and the great Basilica of St. Peter anxious crowds are questioning every body with the least appearance of possessing information. The church has taken to prevent its irreverent sight. The police and municipal guard prevent to close an approach to the Vatican. But the story is true. Death has come at last to relieve the aged pontiff from his sufferings.

SUCCESSION.

The Chances of Cardinal Billo-His Great Project to Arouse the Faithful.

New York, Feb. 7.—The Rome correspondent of the Cologne Gazette is of the opinion that Cardinal Billo has a greater chance than any one else of succeeding the Pope. He had great influence with Pius IX., and is consequently treated with great respect by all the officials of the Vatican. The correspondent describes him as an enterprising, daring, and energetic man, 53 years of age, he believes firmly and implicitly in the Syllabus, and has none of the indecision of courage which characterizes many of his colleagues. He is a man to burn his ships behind him. The idea of holding the conclave abroad originated with him, and he is exerting all his powers to remove the difficulties which stand in the way of his plan being carried out. It is his desire to wander over the earth as an exiled Pope, inciting the faithful everywhere to rise in support of his cause and that of the church.

SOLD FOR DEBT.

Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 7.—To-day the property of the Milwaukee Iron-works was sold by order of the United States Court for the benefit of the first and second mortgage bondholders. The property covered by the first mortgage—twenty-seven acres of land, two blast-furnaces, rolling-mills, shops, and appurtenances—brought $180,000, and was bought by Matt Keenan, C. D. Nash, and D. Ferguson, of this city, trustees of the first bondholders. The property covered by the second mortgage was bought by P. S. Burt, of New Bedford, Mass., Matt Keenan, and J. H. Tweedy, trustees for the second mortgage, for $180,000. Property sold, in another lot made the entire sale $461,141, which property cost $2,300,000. The creditors will realize but a small percentage. The works are to be put in the hands of a lessee.

BOSTONIANISM.

But it seems to us down this way as though it were a fellow in a fog, who believes he has a call to halo, and who thinks it is no matter what he "hollers" so be it he makes noise enough to disturb sensible people, and who hollers, not because he wants to get out of the fog, but to show that he is there.

Re-Opening a Thoroughfare.

In order to guard against results utterly subversive to health, it is absolutely essential that the grand thoroughfare or avenue of the system, the bowels, should be re-opened as speedily as possible when they become obstructed. If they are not, the bile is misdirected into the blood; the liver becomes torpid; viscous bilious matter gets into the stomach, and produces indigestion; headache ensues, and other symptoms are produced, which a prolongation of the existing cause only tends to aggravate. The special properties of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters constitute a most useful agent in overcoming constriction of the bowels, and promoting a regular habit of body. It is infinitely superior to the drastic cathartics frequently used for the purpose, since it does not, like them, act violently, but produces a natural painless effect, which does not impair the tone of the evacuator organs, which it invigorates instead of weakening. The stomach and liver also, indeed the entire system is strengthened and regulated by it.

NIGHT.

Night came down over all the earth, And took the tired day, And clasped her tightly in her arms, And bore her far away. The moon like some vast light-house seemed, Far up in the Milky Way; The gleaming stars like tiny barks, At anchor round her lay.

And like a single silver thread, That twines in some dark clasp, The river wound through trees and brakes, A gleaming band of pearl. I heard the soft, low dip of oars, Like a weary soul heart-throb; And the waves lapped the bow of the boat— A low half-broken sob.

And on that night, so long ago, A vision wondrous rose, Came to me in its fullest joy, So perfect and complete. O golden dream! why didst wake To find it past and gone? The dream was like a glorious day; The waking, cold gray dawn.

"I were better far that I had died Believing it were true. 'I were better far to sleep for aye Beneath the sky so blue. Then live, when each night I wake Seems longer than before; When life is but a constant pain— A wound unhealed and sore."

The river still flows murmuring on; The stars are just as bright. As when the vision came to me That restless summer night. The same! Yes, I alone am changed. Oh God! each weary day I wish that I had died the night The vision passed away. —Harper's Magazine.

A COLORED CADET.

He Cannot Stand the Persecution of His White Fellow-student at West Point.

From the New York Times.

Colored Cadet Mannie, who last year passed the competitive examination for the West Point cadet corps, offered by Congress-man Muller, of the fifth district, has returned to the city, having failed to pass the January examination for advancement. He said yesterday that he felt confident that he could have passed in mathematics, the study in which he failed, had he made any effort to prepare himself for the examination. He had neglected the study, however, being fairly discouraged with the unavailing prospect before him if he remained at the academy. He would have resigned long ago, had not his fellow-students of his own race prevailed upon him at the time to abandon his resolution to leave. The treatment to which colored students were subjected, he said, was enough to sicken the heart and drown the ambition of any one whose feelings were at all sensitive. Of the three hundred white cadets in the institution there were only three or four who would speak to a colored student, outside of official communication. The others never opened their lips to one, except to curse or revile him. Even when the few to whom he alluded as being willing to address a colored student were seen by their fellows in conversation with a colored cadet, they were remonstrated with, and every precaution taken to prevent their repeating the offense. The only relief from this social persecution was the consideration and gentlemanly treatment of the professors and officers, who, Minnie said, allowed no distinction of race or color to alter their bearing towards any student. But notwithstanding that teachers and officers were thus invariably kind and courteous, the social persecution was so severe that it surrounded him on all sides, and so, while he ostensibly yielded to the importunities of his friends to abandon his resolution to resign, he nevertheless made up his mind to let his cadetship go by default. In speaking of his future intentions young Minnie was more hopeful. He had been to see President Webb, of the City College, on several occasions since his return from the academy to ascertain if he could not join the class of which he would now have been a member had he not happened to be unsuccessful in competing for a cadetship. He had passed the examination for admission last year, but President Webb, while expressing his willingness to admit him at the present time, had told him that it might be better for him to wait until fall, as he could then start fresh with a new class and not have to undertake the task of catching up with the present class. President Webb had told him, however, that if he thought he could catch up, he might go to the college to-day and books would be issued to him. He had not yet, he said, quite made up his mind whether to begin now or to wait until fall, as Mr. Webb had suggested. He felt, however, that when he did enter the college he would not enter to be subjected to the same unjust and unkind treatment he had experienced at West Point. His studies there, he said, would be preliminary to a study of law, he being anxious to become a lawyer ultimately if he could. In concluding his story Minnie inquired anxiously as to the health of Senator Morrissey, who it is said, had, although a perfect stranger, most generously furnished him money with which to procure a cadet outfit.

A FOWL MONSTROSITY.

The Head of a Sheep on the Body of a Cockin China Chicken.
An interesting instance of a strange malformation in the head of a fowl, says the Scientific American, has been exhibited alive at the New York Aquarium, and as Prof. F. Stengel, of Columbia college, vouches for its authenticity, it may be presumed to be a genuine specimen. The monster has the head of a bird, but the body and legs of an animal are fully developed. The nose appears to be formed by an extension of the comb, which at the point of junction suddenly changes from a bright red to a pale fleshy color; the lips, which are large and protruding, having the same hue. Both lips and nose are formed of a smooth surface, the nostrils being very similar to those observed in many species of monkeys.

A Rich Marriage Story.

The Watertown Democrat tells the following marriage story: Monday evening Justice Ambrose's court room was filled with an anxious crowd of spectators, waiting for final developments. Earlier in the day, a woman procured a warrant for the arrest of a man who had promised to marry her, but for some unknown cause, refused to fulfill the contract. After a diligent search, the man was at length found and taken into court. The scene is described as one of surpassing interest, from the fact that the woman enlisted the sympathies of the whole crowd. She didn't cry, as women are wont to do under similar circumstances, but exhibited a degree of pluck in trying to capture the fellow that was greatly to be admired. She was willing to do everything to please him, and agreed to forget all past differences, if he would only consent to make her his wife. Considerable pressure was brought to bear on the fellow, by disinterested parties, until he was persuaded to kiss her. This he did in open court to the extreme delight of the spectators. Encouraged by these signs of returning love, the fellow was urged to perform this kindly act once more, which he did, to the vociferous merriment of the entire crowd. Thinking that this two-lip business had gone about far enough, some one suggested that as long as the parties were in a suitable condition to get married, the Justice be requested to go on with the ceremony. Believing this to be about as good a way as any to settle the difficulty, the Justice, knowing his power, of course, tied the knot, and the two were made one. It appears however, that the contract on the part of the man was not sufficiently voluntary, and that the look of first opportunity, the same evening, to jump the town, and has not been heard from since.

Coolness on the Field of Honor.

Correspondence Philadelphia Times.
My father went to the field as second for a man who was a novice and a coward. He was a young fellow of lymphatic tone, with struggling whiskers up to his ears, always sign of weakness. He could not hit anything with a pistol. Going out to practice the evening before, he fell into a tremor at passing a new-made grave, that finally gave way to actual tears. He was utterly palsied, and his lips tried to run all over his face. He was determined to fight, however, and had told my father he would go to the field if he had to be carried there in a cart. My father saw that he was a man at heart, and determined to chase the goose flesh off him. He saw that all he needed was confidence. He at once began to treat the matter as if the hitting of the other man was an accomplished fact. He then commenced discussing the point at which it was desirable to strike him. "It wouldn't hit him in the head," he said; "it is hardly ever done, and takes more time. Just put your ball in his body, about two inches below the arm-pit." By taking everything as a matter of course, he succeeded in imparting confidence to his friend. The next morning he made him a comfortable breakfast, discussing the hunger he might feel after the duel. When they had reached the field he put him in position, and then said to him carelessly: "Don't wait to raise your pistol to his head. As soon as it's level to within two inches of his arm-pits, pull the trigger. Just below the arm-pit, remember!" And sure enough he did put his ball right there, and walked off the field, remarking: "I knew I hit him before I pulled the trigger." Skill with a pistol! Why that is nothing I saw one of the best duelist I ever knew put out of nerve by his opponent putting on a pair of eye-glasses, gazing at him intently, then removing them, wiping them, and replacing them to his eyes. A green man is just as safe on the field as a professional duelist. I am inclined to think he is a little safer. He is more careful.

GENTLE SPRING.
Another sixty days or so, And where the snow-bird pranks Will kerocene their cranks.

Mrs. Chisolm.
These who are proud of the "model republic," and boast that ours is the best government on which the sun shines, should hear the story of the Chisolm murders from her own lips. They will think they never heard it before, and from their hearts they will lift a prayer that our lawmakers shall find ways by which such heinous shall not go unpunished, or they will hang their heads in shame and blush for their country.

After making arrangements to leave this city and go to Jackson, Mrs. Chisolm received a telegram from a friend there, advising her not to make the journey, as it would only be labor lost, as the defendants would not even trouble themselves to appear in court, and nothing would come of the trial. Such is the great respect which the Mississippi people have for a Federal court! What else could be expected when there were on the grand jury that indicted them two of the prominent murderers?—National Republican.

The standard remedies for all diseases of the lungs are SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, SCHENCK'S SEEDING TONIC, and SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS, and if taken before the lungs are destroyed they effect a speedy cure. To these medicines Dr. J. H. Schenck, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivaled success in the treatment of pulmonary diseases. The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter in the lungs, nature throws it off by an easy expectoration, and the patient has relief from the prostrating cough. The Mandrake Pills must be freely used to cleanse and stimulate the stomach and liver; they remove all obstructions, relax the gall bladder and start the bile freely, and the liver is soon relieved. Schenck's Sea Weed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative; the alkali of which it is composed mixes with the food and prevents souring. It assists the digestion by toning up the stomach to a healthy condition, so that the food and Pulmonic Syrup will make good blood; then the lungs heal, and the patient will surely get well if care is taken to avoid fresh cold. Full directions accompany each preparation. All who wish to consult Dr. Schenck personally, can do so at his principal office, corner of Sixth and Arch Sts., Philadelphia, every Monday.

MAGNOLIA STORE

Being desirous of changing my business place of residence, I offer my STORE at Magnolia Corners for Sale; also my house and lot, convenient to the store. The lot contains about three acres, covered with Fruit trees, etc., consisting of about 70 Apple trees, in bearing (this orchard has produced 300 bushels in one season), in very good condition; Cherry trees, Siberian and Russian Crabs, a half dozen Pear trees very thrifty, Currants, Gooseberries, Raspberries, of different varieties, Strawberries and Grapes. I should prefer to sell the stock with the store. Will sell very cheap for cash, or on easy terms for good note and stock alone. I have no purchaser desires. It is a good point for country trade, but I have interests elsewhere that require my personal attention. J. F. HOWARD, Jan 10 1878

Dr. Price's reputation has been acquired by candid, honest dealing and years of successful practice. My practice not one of experiment, but founded on the laws of Nature, with years of experience and evidence to sustain it. I do not fear to make sick to make well; no harsh treatment, no trifling, no flattery. We know the cause and the remedy needed; no guess work, but knowledge gained by years of experience in the treatment of Chronic diseases exclusively; no encouragement without a prospect of relief. In our opinion, reasonable in our charges, claim not to know everything, or cure everybody, but do lay claim to reason and common sense. We invite the sick, no matter what their ailment, to call and investigate before they abandon hope, make interrogations and decide for yourselves; it will cost nothing as consultation is free. CATARRH

NEVER-FAILING RELIEF.

AFFORDED BY:

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

It is a fact that can be substantiated by the most respectable testimonials ever offered in favor of any medicine, that Catarrh of the Bladder, or Catarrh of the Uterus, does in every case afford instant and permanent relief. No matter how long standing, or how severe the disease, the first dose gives such evidence of its value in the treatment of Catarrh of the Bladder, and Catarrh of the Uterus, as to all but the most obstinate cases. The relief is so rapid, and the cure is so complete, that it is a fact that Catarrh of the Bladder, and Catarrh of the Uterus, are the only diseases of the urinary system, which can be cured in so short a time, and with so little trouble. The proprietors, therefore, may justly feel proud of the position this remedy has attained, and believe it worthy of its reputation.

COLORED CANDIES.

The Deadly Work of Poison and Dirt in Confectionery - Some Startling Figures on the Subject of Adulteration.

St. Louis Post: "People have no idea what is eaten for candy every day by children whose powers of discrimination are not sufficiently developed to know the difference between the good and bad article," was the remark of a prominent candy manufacturer to a Post reporter.

"Children, and sometimes grown people who should know better, may frequently be seen buying candies from street corner peddlers for no other reason than they may at such places obtain the greatest quantity for their nickles."

"What are the injurious substances used, queried our reporter?"

"There are a number of different articles used for coloring, as red lead, gamboge, vermilion, chromate of lead, Prussian blue, verditer, arsenite of copper, Brunswick green, and various oxides of iron, all deadly poisons. Terra alba, a kind of white clay or earth, is very largely used by manufacturers, it sometimes forming 50 or 60 per cent of the article. Manufacturers have raised the practice of adulteration to the dignity of a science, and there are now houses in New York who make a business of selling to manufacturers. This article which is used more than any other by dishonest manufacturers was first used some fifteen or twenty years ago, but never extensively in this country until during the late war, when cream of tartar, bit carbonate of soda, pepper, and such articles were thoroughly mixed with it to make them cheaper and more profitable. Terra alba was then worth 75 mills per pound, but the demand has since so increased that that price is now doubled.

"What is terra alba?" questioned the reporter.

"Nothing more than common dirt. In color it resembles flour or ground chalk. Pulverized granite is not any more injurious to eat than it is. It is very easy to detect terra alba in candy. Whenever candies are adulterated with it, a piece of the candy placed in the mouth and allowed to slowly melt will leave a deposit of a thick, tasteless substance, without sweetening or flavor. The cheap chocolate cream of which children are so fond are made of terra alba and glycerine mixed together, the glycerine keeping the earth soft and pasty, making it adhere; the balls are dipped in tallow and chocolate, so much grease being used that one pound of chocolate will go as far as six if properly used.

STARTLING

as it may seem, over one ton of terra alba is used in this city every day for adulterating candies. Gum drops, instead of being made of gum arabic, which costs about twenty cents per pound, are manufactured of cheap glue, sometimes actually filthy. One prominent manufacturer told me the other day that he "was forced to adulterate candies in order to compete with others in the trade." To such a degree of ingenuity have candy makers arrived, that some of their wares are put upon the market with only a slight proportion of sugar and with the coloring and flavoring of so cheap a quality that their candies may be bought at the same price per pound as the raw sugar.

Thanking the gentleman for his information, the Post representative proceeded to the office of a prominent physician of this city. The doctor, in answer to a question of the reporter, said he had seen several cases of candy poisoning, but the symptoms, head ache, pains in the bowels, and vomiting were the same as in poisoning by other means, and there was no way to distinguish it from any other kind of poisoning. The doctor said he had read of the poisoning of the Davis children which resulted in the death of the young and had no doubt, from the symptoms, that it was a genuine case of poisoning.

"What are the diseases produced by eating white earth or terra alba?" asked the reporter.

"The worst effects are the terrible diseases of stone and gravel, which is caused by the introduction of earth into the system, and the cause of the large increase of patients suffering from these terrible diseases is attributed by high medical authority to this ingredient. The article about the Davis children, caused me to analyze some candy which I had purchased at a store on Poplar street, and I found that fifty-five per cent of it was terra alba. The colorings of cheap candies are fully as injurious as terra alba. Instead of cochineal, which should always be used in principle, manufacturers substitute a substance of powerful poisonous color. The argument that the substances named are used in quantities so small that poisoning can not result from eating adulterated candies has no foundation, as some of the poisons used are cumulative, that is, they accumulate in the system; no matter how small the quantity eaten at a time, each addition retains, the constantly growing mass working slowly and silently, producing even more deadly effects than if large doses were accidentally taken, whose result may be neutralized or affected by antidotes."

A DISTINGUISHED PHYSICIAN

lately made a statement at an annual meeting of a medical society of which he was a member, that "there was no doubt but what hundreds of children are slain every year by cheap candies, without the real cause of their deaths being known." Messieurs Felt and Ritter, two celebrated French chemists, in a paper recently read before the academy of science on the subject of "Poisonous Colorings in Confectionery," said: "In experimenting with fuchsine we found that only one half gramme in solution taken on an empty stomach, causes a deep redness of the ears, intense itching of the mouth, and swelling of the gums, and when this dose was repeated daily for a week, diarrhea and ulcers in the bowels were developed, and when a like amount was injected into the veins of a dog, or its stomach, albumen invariably had its appearance in the urine, and the symptoms were found to be due to a peculiar degeneration of the cortical substance of the kidneys."

Mixed Sentiments.

From the Newark Call.

They were contributing toward a fund for the extinguishment of the church debt the other evening at a meeting of a West Newark congregation. "I'll contribute $20," said one brother. "I'll contribute $30," said another brother. "And the first contributor, in the excitement of the moment said, 'I'll call you, what have you got?'"

VEGETINE.

HER OWN WORDS.

BALTIMORE, Md., Feb. 13, 1877.

Mr. H. R. STEVENS.

Dear Sir, - Since several years I have got a sore and very painful foot. I had some physicians, but they couldn't cure me. Now I have heard of your Vegetine from a lady who was sick for a long time, and became all well from your Vegetine, and I went and bought one bottle of Vegetine; and after I had used one bottle, the pains left me, and it began to heal, and then I bought one other bottle, and so I take it yet. I thank God for this remedy and yourself, and wishing every sufferer may pay attention to it. It is a blessing for health.

Mrs. C. KRABBE.

638 West Baltimore Street.

VEGETINE.

SAFE AND SURE.

Mr. H. R. STEVENS.

In 1874 your Vegetine was recommended to me, and, yielding to the persuasions of a friend, I consented to try it. At the time I was suffering from general debility and nervous prostration, superinduced by overwork and irregular habits. Its wonderful strengthening and curative properties seemed to affect my debilitated system from the first dose; and under its persistent use I rapidly recovered, gaining more than usual health and good feeling. Since then I have not hesitated to give Vegetine my most unqualified endorsement, as being a safe, sure and powerful agent in promoting health and restoring the wasted system to new life and energy. Vegetine is the only medicine I use; and as long as I live I never expect to find a better.

Yours truly,

W. H. CLARK, 120 Monterey Street, Allegheny, Pennsylvania.

VEGETINE.

THE BEST SPRING MEDICINE.

Mr. H. R. STEVENS.

CHARLESTOWN.

Dear Sir, - I am to certify that I have used your "Blood Preparation" in my family for several years, and think that for Scrofula or Cancerous Humors or rheumatic affections it cannot be excelled; and as a blood purifier and spring medicine it is the best thing I have ever used, and I have almost everything that can cheerfully recommend it to any one in need of such a medicine.

Yours respectfully,

Mrs. A. A. DINSMORE, 19 Russell St.

VEGETINE.

WHAT IS NEEDED.

BOSTON, Feb. 13, 1871.

Mr. H. R. STEVENS, Esq.

Dear Sir, - About one year ago I found myself in a feeble condition from general debility. Vegetine was strongly recommended to me by a friend who had been much benefited by its use. I procured the article, and after using several bottles, was restored to health, and discontinued its use. I feel quite confident that there is no medicine superior to it for those complaints for which it is especially prepared, and would cheerfully recommend it to those who feel that they need something to restore them to perfect health.

Respectfully yours,

U. L. PETTINGILL, Firm of S. M. Pettengill & Co., No. 10 State St., Boston.

VEGETINE.

ALL HAVE OBTAINED RELIEF.

SOUTH BERWICK, Me., Jan. 17, 1872.

H. R. STEVENS, Esq.

Dear Sir, - I have had dyspepsia in its worst form for the last ten years, and have taken hundreds of dollars' worth of medicines without any relief. In September last I commenced taking Vegetine, since which time my health has steadily improved. My food digests well, and I have gained fifteen pounds in flesh. There are several others in the place taking Vegetine, and all have obtained relief.

Yours truly,

THOMAS E. MOORE, Overseer of Card Room, Portsmouth Co., Me.

New York Mercury

Fortieth Year of Publication.

For forty years the New York Mercury has been before the public a welcome guest through the length and breadth of the land. The Pioneer of Weekly Journalism, it has kept pace with the march of improvement and progress. As it is the past so in the future, it proposes to retain its rank as the LEADING LITERARY, FAMILY AND MISCELLANEOUS JOURNAL OF THE AGE.

Originality is a prominent feature, especially in its Literary Columns. Its Story Departments are the best. Its extensive list of contributors embracing the names of the most celebrated AMERICAN AND EUROPEAN WRITERS OF FICTION.

The Mercury has achieved a National Reputation for its Sketches of Romance and Real Life, a field in which it has no rival. Another specialty is its TABLE-TALK DEPARTMENT. In which appears regularly the "best thoughts of the best minds," overflowing with diverting anecdotes, vivacious poetry, and quaint conceits.

THE LADIES' COLUMN. While the Ladies are also always sure to find in the Mercury articles of living interest to the sex. Children are catered to in a manner designed to instruct as well as amuse.

A RECORD OF PUBLIC AMUSEMENTS. The Mercury gives every item of public or personal importance in the Theatrical, Musical, Artistic and Variety World. Its correspondents, who cover both Hemispheres - ever faithful and industrious - contribute regularly a full, comprehensive, and reliable budget of information superior in accuracy and scope to that of any journal published.

SPECIAL FEATURES. The Mercury is the only recognized favorite of the Volunteer and Paid Fire Departments of the United States and Canada, affording as it does promptly and exhaustively, all attainable facts and goings on. During the Season of Amusement sports many columns are devoted to the favorite game of Baseball. Its reports of games, and its tabular records of plays and statistics are the best published. THE NEWS AND GENERAL DEPARTMENT. Always embrace special articles on timely and interesting topics; editorials, condensed news-items, humorous paragraphs, etc.

Altogether, in point of variety, quantity and quality, The New York Mercury is unsurpassed by any journal in the world.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION. The Mercury is published weekly, except on Sundays and public holidays. It contains six columns of sterling, original matter, will continue to be issued at Eight Cents a copy, and sold by all newsmen and periodical dealers in America. To mail-subscribers our terms for 1878 will be (cash in advance) - Single copies (postage paid), Three Dollars per Annum.

Write plainly the name of post-office, county, and State. Specimen copies sent free to all applicants. Address WILLIAM CALDWELL, Proprietor of the New York Mercury, No. 125 Fulton street, New York City.

BRIEFLETS.

—What's the weather trying to do now?
—Methodistic social at Rev. Wheeler's to-night.
—The swallows are getting too numerous. Bring out the red ribbon.

—That Vienna bread that Denniston has for sale is just the best thing out. Give it a try.

—El. Bialliff, of the Gazette office, says it's a son, and that both mother and boy are doing well.

—The Temple of Honor will meet to-night at 7 o'clock, sharp, for a brief meeting before the lecture.

—Bailey's new hat factory in Guild's building, bids fair to become a permanent financial success. Any increase in its capacity is promised.

—The very Dickens began to be raised sixty-six years ago last night. Charles the novelist, of whom Mr. Applebee will speak to-night, was born then.

—It was a close shave for that fellow who burglarized the barber shop. He cut around the corner, and ran till he was in a perfect lather, and almost dyed out of sheer fright.

—Dr. F. B. Hyland, the magnetic physician, will be at the Edward's house all of next week. He invites all who desire to witness his skill to call upon him next Tuesday evening.

—Dr. S. C. O'Brien, of Madison, will be at the Edward's house next Monday. He has abundant recommendations as to his ability and skill to treat the diseases of which he makes a specialty.

—There have been no fire alarms during February for two years past and the present month opens up as if a third was to be added to the list. Don't tap the bell, and spoil the record.

—The Monroe Sentinel says of the lecture of Rev. J. L. Jones on "The Cost of an Idea," recently delivered there: "Suffice it to say that Mr. Jones' lecture was one of the very best we have ever listened to."

—At the meeting of the vestrymen of Christ church last evening, the arrangement for rental of pews was somewhat modified in its details and other matters, of interest to the church only, were transacted.

—Mr. Hayward, of South Bend, Ind., is spending a few days with friends in the city. Mrs. Hayward, nee Chase, has been visiting here some weeks, and both Mr. and Mrs. H. will return to their home tomorrow.

—A susceptible young fellow sends in the following bit of advice for the benefit of his companions. "If you don't want the fair ones to steal your heart, steel it yourself." There isn't much danger though as long as the girls patronize the peanut stand and gum box.

—Denniston is always getting something new and nice, and as a caterer is always busy hunting and satisfying the wants of the public. His stock embraces as great a variety and as choice goods as the most fussy eater could crave for. His Vienna bread is now having quite a run and promises to become universally popular. It's a pleasing addition to a table.

—A dime musical entertainment will be given at Apollo hall to-night by the choir of St. Patrick's church, the proceeds to go toward defraying the expenses of the musical portion of the church service. A dance will follow the concert, for which a half-dollar will be charged. Smith & Clemon's band will furnish the numbers and a most enjoyable evening has been provided for.

—Complaint has been made to this office of the condition of the streets and a request that the matter be touched up. The Gazette has already spoken of the condition of the bridges and recommended that the mud be cleared off, while it is mellow. This streets might well be included in the same recommendation. Get out the shovels and scrapers and clean up generally while the weather is favorable.

—Charles W. Stark, of Shopiere, says he was strolling down Main street last evening when he was suddenly attacked by a couple of fellows who were armed with pieces of fenceboard, and who seemed bent on wreaking their vengeance upon him. Whether they mistook their man, or whether they were bent on robbery, is not known. They were speedily induced to take to their heels, and no blood was spilt or serious injuries inflicted.

—Last evening there was a most pitiable sight presented to those who were strolling about the business portion of the city. A woman, drunk beyond decency, was attempting to promenade the streets, and in consequence the observed of all observers, some of whom were greatly surprised for recognizing her as one who stood well in community, and by marriage is connected with a prominent and very respectable family of this city. She was cared for by friends, and taken to her home.

—John Dunn, who was recently pardoned out of jail, has concluded to take up his residence in Galveston, Texas. A few friends accompanied him as far as Beloit, where the crowd indulged a little too freely in parting bumpers until a trio, including John, are said to have been locked up, and afterwards fined $5 apiece. John then went on his way leaving the others to return home, where they were greeted heartily, especially by the owner of the lively rig, who was greatly perplexed to account for the length of time the man was away. It is to be hoped that now John has taken a new departure in morals, brace up, and become the man he is capable of being.

WEATHER.

The mercury at 7 o'clock this morning stood at 32 degrees above and by 1 o'clock fell to 32 degrees above. Cloudy and a strong east wind. One year ago at corresponding hours of the day, the thermometer indicated 22 and 42 degrees above.

The indications to-day are, partly cloudy, and cloudy weather, with rain, variable winds, mostly northeast to northwest. Light rain is reported at Leavenworth and Keokuk.

CHARITY AND REFORM.

Some Interesting Reading for Rock County Tax-Payers—Facts and Figures Concerning Unfortunates and Criminals.

The report of the State Board of Charities and Reform just issued contains some facts and figures of local interest concerning Rock county. There are now 169 school children in the county. Of the district clerks 65 reported concerning the number of children mentally incapacitated from receiving instruction in the public schools, showing the number to be eight of whom four were cases of congenital idiocy, one of mental weakness from disease or accident, and three from mental weakness the cause of which was not reported. There were two blind, and one deaf child reported. There has been appropriated to the Institution for the Blind from its foundation up to 1878, $681,475 of which $346,295 was for current expenses and the balance for permanent improvements. The report further says: "In the Institutions for the Blind and the Deaf and Dumb the expenses have been kept well within the appropriations up to this time, and we hope may show balances in favor of the schools at the end of the fiscal year. The suggestion of the Board in regard to the propriety of requiring more household work from the scholars has been followed apparently with good results." It also includes quite complimentary to the economy shown.

In regard to the county jail the Board makes the following report:

"This jail was visited three times during the year 1877, by members and the Secretary of the Board, but detailed notes were not taken, or have not been received at this office. The management appears to be very satisfactory, but the jail itself has objectionable features, which have been alluded to in previous reports of this Board. The building is of brick, with stone floors, and the latter, being very near the level of the neighboring river, are cold and damp. The cells have iron grated doors, covered at night by thick wooden ones. Women are placed in an upper room, with large and well ventilated cells."

The report concerning the condition of the Poor House is rather meagre, owing to the fact that Mr. Tilton, one of the Board, who resides here has been so long and so seriously ill as to prevent him from getting the necessary data, and making a formal report. The condition of the premises are reported, however, as being very good.

The county is well represented, numerically speaking, at least, in all of the State institutions. In the State Prison at Waupun there were received during the year ending September, 1877, a total of 17, four more than from any other county in the State, Dane coming second with 13 representatives. Among the prisoners remaining in the penitentiary Sept. 1, 1877, Dane had one the most, this county coming second, there being 22 from here.

In the Reform School there are 8 boys from this county, the county standing fifth on the list; and in the Insane Asylum at Madison 34, the county being entitled to 23. In numbers of insane in the hospital Rock county stands fourth. It has also four of its deaf and dumb children in the Asylum at Delavan.

As nearly as can be estimated exclusive of those belonging to Rock county who are in the Blind Asylum it costs to support these various representatives from the county $13,705.39, that amount being distributed as follows: Insane, $8,317.22, prisoners, $2,878.03; reform school boys, $1,007.80; deaf and dumb, $1,002.32.

FIRE IN LA PRAIRIE.

About 10 o'clock last night a fire broke out in some clover stacks on the farm of Mr. John Stanton in the town of La Prairie, and caused the total destruction of two stacks and a new clover huller, which Mr. Stanton had placed in position yesterday with the expectation of proceeding at once with his threshing. The loss will reach about $400, and is not covered by any insurance. There seems to be little doubt but that incendiarism was the cause of the blaze.

A BARBER'S RUGLARY.

About 11 o'clock last night watchman Osgood noticed a man standing on the stairs leading to the basement occupied by Scott, Reed, & Goskey as a barber shop, on West Milwaukee street. He thought it was one of the men connected with the shop, but on saluting him with a "good-evening sir," was surprised to see the fellow make a jump and rush by him, taking to his heels in a most energetic and enthusiastic manner. The watchman followed, and was joined in the chase by Marshal Keating, but the stranger was too swift-footed and managed to escape. An examination of the barber-shop showed that the lock of the door had been broken and an entrance thus secured. The plunder taken however, was of small value, consisting only of a little soap, a towel or so, and a razor-strap. Everything had been tumbling over in the vain search for wealth. The burglar was evidently either a novice at the business or else drunk, as his mode of procedure was decidedly unprofessional and not in accordance with the science laid down in Hoyle and other writers on this subject.

TALKS FROM THE ROSTRUM.

To-night James Kay Applebee will appear in Lippin's hall to talk about Dickens, and every one who has a two-shilling bit in his pocket, should borrow, or earn another and take his wife or lady fair. Those who have heard this gentleman lecture speak of him in the very highest terms as thoroughly scholarly, and cultured, and happily gifted with a wonderfully dramatic delivery. This lecture is of a popular strain, and will doubtless draw a large crowd. Turn out, and hear him.

To-morrow evening Mrs. Abby Sage Richardson will lecture at All Souls church on "The Lake Poets," it being one of her course on English Literature. Mrs. Richardson will deliver more of the course should she receive sufficient encouragement as she doubtless will. She has won very high praise wherever she has delivered them. The Boston Journal says: Her enthusiasm for her favorite writers, wins them new friends, and the taste with which the passages chosen for her charming ing illustrative readings were selected, is a compliment alike to her good judgment and discrimination." In New York, Mrs. Lorenzo Dow, Mrs. Dr. Gilbert and others united in a card of high praise of the course. The Chicago Times also says: "The increasing attendance shows the increasing interest. The lecture gave abundant evidence of Mrs. Richardson's careful study and enthusiastic love for early English literature."

CITY NOTICES.

The Fragrant Breath of Beauty
Attests the matchless purifying properties of Sodalont. Every lady who has ever used it, proclaims it a perfect antidote to dental decay. Pure teeth are essential to a pure breath, and both are enjoyed by all who resort to this agreeable, wholesome and invaluable vegetable compound.

Spalding's Glue will mend your ways, etc.

Important to the Ladies.

We call special attention to the closing out sale at the New York Millinery Hall of Fashion, 10 Main street, Janesville. Great inducements are offered for the next two weeks only, at the above establishment in ladies' and children's furs, in mink, seal, lynx, hare and writer mink, also a large stock of ladies' and children's trimmed and untrimmed hats and bonnets, also millinery and fancy goods, ladies' underwear, fine jewelry, paper patterns, hair goods &c., all of which must be closed out at once, or before March 1st, 1878, previous to removal. Ladies are invited to call early and secure bargains, as goods must be sold. Three silver bar show cases, desk, and two self feeder stoves for sale cheap.

LOCAL MATTERS.

A CARD.
To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. This great remedy was discovered by a missionary in South America. Send a self-addressed envelope to the Rev. JOSEPH T. INMAN, Station D, Bible House, New York City.

A Gentle Hint.
In our style of climate, with its sudden changes of temperature, rain, wind and sunshine often intermingled in a single day, it is no wonder that our children, friends and relatives are so frequently taken from us by neglected colds, half the deaths resulting directly from this cause. A bottle of Boschee's German Syrup kept about your home for immediate use will prevent serious sickness, a large doctor's bill, and perhaps death, by the use of three or four doses. For Caring Consumption, Hemorrhages, Pneumonia, Severe Coughs, Croup or any disease of the Throat or Lungs, its success is simply wonderful, as your druggist will tell you. Germany Syrup is now a day every where and still on this continent. Sample bottles for trial, 10c, regular size, 75c.

Beyond the Reach of Human Skill
Is the power to restore the hair to bald heads when the bulbs at the roots are destroyed by age or disease; but there are doubtless many persons becoming bald, whose hair by careful attention might be restored to its original luxuriance and beauty. Parker's Hair Balsam is an elegant perfume, designed to meet the public want, a harmless hair dressing and restorative. It acts like magic, commencing at the very roots, removes dandruff, and all humors from the scalp, and never fails to restore gray or faded hair to the original color, and the soft, rich and glossy appearance of youth. By its occasional use falling of the hair is immediately checked, and a luxuriant and beautiful growth of young hair insured. The exquisite perfume and the purity of its composition are highly appreciated, and as it is not a dye and does not stain the skin or clothing, it is a growing favorite of the toilet everywhere. Buy a bottle from your druggist, A. J. Roberts, Janesville, Wis., and test its merits. Janesville, Wis., Feb 1st

MISCELLANEOUS.
FOR SALE
At my farm one and one half miles southeast of Mount Zion, in the town of Harmony, one bull, one year old, very dark red, pedigree recorded, and copy of the same furnished to the purchaser. For further particulars enquire of Newton H. Clark, of Janesville. Also one Cheshire Cow, six months old; was sired by the celebrated imported horse Sir William Wallace, owned by David McVay. This cow took the first premium at the last State Fair; also two sisters, one 3, and the other 2 years old, have taken first premium at fair each year of their age. The mother of this young stallion took first premium at the last State Fair. Parties wishing to purchase either the Bull or the Cow can call and see them at my farm. 24th St. Wm. MENZIES.

Chicago Market.

Chicago, February 7

During the afternoon the markets were weak owing to the contradictory reports as to the occupation of Constantinople by the Russians.

Wheat—The market on spring wheat since the experienced quite a change to-day. The reported occupation of Constantinople by the Russians, coupled with a decline in London in English coin, and a stronger feeling in Liverpool grain circles, worked a complete revolution in the market. Instead of the depression existing on yesterday, the movement from the very opening of business was unusually bullish, and as the shorts were forced by a free call for additional margins to buy liberally, considerable excitement attended the various fluctuations in prices. In a word, the bulls found no trouble in shaping the course of the trade, and at the close of "Change" the ruling figures were 1 1/2¢ higher than the opening market, and 3¢ better than yesterday's closing quotations.

The latest report on No 2 spring wheat was fairly active at lower prices; seller March selling at 1 1/2¢ 1 1/4¢ 1 1/2¢, and closing at 1 1/4¢; no trading in other options.

New York Grain and Produce Market

New York, February 7

Flour—5¢ 10c higher on shipping extra, of which 4,300 bbls were sold at 5 10¢ 13 1/4¢ 15

In a steady market for superiors; clear Minnesota and Wisconsin about 5¢ better, with a good export, jobbing and bakers' demand; Minnesota straight steady and in good trade demand; western winter wheat extras at 5 25¢; rye flour in better demand for jobbers' uses at old prices; buckwheat flour off again at 3 30¢

Wheat—The first call, excited by the London news, the short became scarce, and bid the market 1/2¢ 3/4c over the lowest prices of yesterday on No 2 spring wheat. March, northwestern higher in sympathy and red also, but both nominal afterward; between calls nothing was reported in options, which were weaker and neglected, and the last call there were no sales, market being nominal; market for cash wheat, however, became quite active, closing 1/2c higher, on better export demand

Wheat—Market weak and lower
